Domestic animals are an essential part of our life. They give us emotional support, cosiness and harmony. People keep pets by different reasons: someone wants to find a guard and someone has a lack of feelings.

There is also a pet in my house - a German shepherd dog named. He came into our family several years ago for guarding the house. He greets me after school with pleasure, waits for walking with me. He is very clever and faithful dog. When I walk with him, I feel myself under the protection.

This fantastic creature brings positive emotions and happiness to our house. If you contact with your pet, you become more careful attentive and kind.

Love the animals!
