4. Why do people have pets?

Nowadays, a lot of people keep pets. They have dogs, cats, parrots, hamsters, mice, fish and others. But what is the reason for keeping pets?

Firstly, I think that some people are very kind and they take homeless animals and save them from death.

Secondly, I believe that some people like to take care of pets, play with them and have a lot of fun.

It ~~suffers~~ ^{saves} them from stress and relax them.

Thirdly, in my opinion, old people take pets not to be alone. They can "talk" to their friends and feel happy.

Besides, there are a lot of examples, when pets save their owners from fire and different accidents.

Many animals have much better hearing and smell than human beings. They can hear certain noises at great distances. Other have sensitive feet and can feel vibrations in the ground.

Not long ago I saw a film, where a cat saved her owners from the fire.

Blind people keep dogs, that help them to find the way.

Some people take wild animals from their natural habitat and keep them as pets. I think, that they shouldn't do it. Wild animals must live in their habitat.

To sum up people must take care of their pets, because pets are our friends.
