The train began to move. Harry saw the boys' mother waving and their sister, half laughing, half crying, running to keep up with the train until it gathered too much speed, then she fell back and waved.

Harry watched the girl and her mother disappear as the train rounded the corner. Houses flashed past the window. Harry felt a great leap of excitement. He didn't know what he was going to but it had to be better than what he was leaving behind.

The door of the compartment slid open and the youngest redheaded boy came in.

"Anyone sitting there?" he asked, pointing at the seat opposite Harry. "Everywhere else is full."

Harry shook his head and the boy sat down. He glanced at Harry and then looked quickly out of the window, pretending he hadn't looked. Harry saw he still had a black mark on his nose.

"Hey, Ron." The twins were back. "Listen, we're going down the middle of the train -- Lee Jordan's got a giant tarantula down there."

"Right," mumbled Ron.

"Harry," said the other twin, "did we introduce ourselves? Fred and George Weasley. And this is Ron, our brother. See you later, then."

"Bye," said Harry and Ron. The twins slid the compartment door shut behind them.

"Are you really Harry Potter?" Ron blurted out.

Harry nodded.

"Oh -well, I thought it might be one of Fred and George's jokes," said Ron. "And have you really got -- you know..."

4. Write an essay (100-250 words) answering the following question:

The best place I've ever been to.

Travelling is one of my greatest hobbies. I have been to many places, but I liked Malta the most.

I went there this summer to study English in local university. Malta is famous for its schools for foreign students. The most useful experience for me was to speak with people from other countries. I made a lot of friends there and I have lots of funny stories which happened with us while we stayed in Malta. For example, when me and the boys from Italy went to the beach, which was ~~quite far from~~ quite far from where we lived, at night to see the lunar eclipse or when we went to swim instead of the lesson. I really enjoyed the time I spent in Malta with all of my friends. With some of them I still chat on Twitter and Instagram.

I can surely say that Malta is the best place I have ever been to. I hope one day I will go there and see all my friends again.
